

Presbyterian Peace Fellowship

presbypeacefellowship.org/ga223

Text GApeace to 33222 to get text updates from PPF at GA

#PPFGA @presbypeace

Dear Committee 14,

Greetings as you prepare to serve at General Assembly! Among the many issues before Committee 14, we write to lift up one and to share one plenary concern (over).

Item (14-05) affirms Martin Luther King's "Letter from Birmingham City Jail" as a Contemporary Statement of Faith. We add texts to our faith statements for two reasons. One, because they are prophetic, rooted in their original time and place, yet speaking to issues that are timeless. And two, because they inform our identity as a denomination, articulating values we aspire to live out. King's "Letter from Birmingham City Jail" meets both of those precedents. Please support (14-05).

King responds to criticism of direct action and nonviolent resistance with frustration at the white moderate Christians' willingness to wait for a mythical "right time" to protest. He mourns the brutalization of black citizens at the hands of citizens and police alike with words that have been echoed nonstop, most recently in the Black Lives Matter movement. This 1963 letter speaks to issues of power and justice that we, "Fellow Clergymen," find ourselves continuing to confront in 2018.

To embrace King's words as confessional, then, is to acknowledge that we are not yet done with the struggle for full racial justice and to proclaim that the time to act is now. This may be one of the most important items of business before the GA. Also, the Birmingham letter grounds our response to the issues of our own time in urgency and in an absolute commitment to nonviolence. The need to act against complacency is with this GA in its deliberations and decisions on the timeliness of action on climate change, war, gun violence, racism, and more.

We make one caveat: if we are to affirm the "Letter from Birmingham City Jail" as one of our confessions, then we must be ready to live into what we confess. We must be prepared to go where there is injustice, to follow King's example as King followed Paul's example. We must be able to hear King's justified frustration with the white moderate Christian -- and resist the all-too-familiar reflex to continue promising freedom for all, just not yet.

God bless you in your service in St. Louis. If there is anything that we can do to be of help, please call on us.

Sincerely, Emily Brewer, PPF Executive Director
ga@presbypeacefellowship.org

Briefing Paper for GA Committee

14

Theological & Church Growth Issues

Celebrating 74 Years!

Who we are: Founded in 1944, the Presbyterian Peace Fellowship is a nation-wide community of Presbyterians who act on the example of Jesus to reduce war, violence and exploitation. We are a non-partisan group, open to all Presbyterians. Except for a small staff, we are volunteers who pay our own way to GA. We do not work for or represent any government or outside lobby group. Because of our focus on peacemaking, we have divested our Peace Fellowship Endowment Fund at the Presbyterian Foundation of all fossil fuel companies and over 20 companies that profit from or enable the Occupation of Palestine by Israel.

Be Bold! Nonviolence Works.

Please see presbypeacefellowship.org/ga223 for information on all peacemaking issues coming to the 223rd GA. If you have questions or suggestions at GA, you can always text us. Text GApeace to 33222.

In the GA Exhibit area, visit us at Booth 119-121 for conversation & for education/action resources.

Join Us for the Peace Breakfast!

Wed. June 20, 7am, Tickets at ga-pcusa.org

Progressive Presbyterians GA Issues Briefing Breakfast, Sat. June 16, 7-9 am at Centenary Methodist Church. No ticket is required, but please register at presbypeacefellowship.org/ga223 Option: Following this briefing, join the last leg of the 260 mile PCUSA Walk for a Fossil Free World, from the Centenary Methodist Church to the General Assembly.

PCUSA Walk for a Fossil Free World

June 1- 16, We are walking from the PC(USA) offices in Louisville to the GA in St. Louis. Step-by-step, the walkers join 40 presbyteries that have called for action at the 223rd General Assembly to protect creation by divesting from fossil fuel stocks. See pcusawalk.org

To join The Walk for the final day, including the entry into St. Louis, contact info@presbypeacefellowship.org Closing Worship –Join in The Walk's closing worship service on Fri. June 15 at 7pm at Centenary Methodist Church, 55 Plaza Square, St. Louis.

You can also view live-streamed teach-ins and worship from The Walk each night June 1- 15 at #walk2divest or pcusawalk.org

The Presbyterian Peace Fellowship Reflects on One GA Plenary Issue: Climate Change

Addressing climate change requires an unprecedented mobilization of human genius, unity, timeliness and love. We support many of the climate-related proposals before GA, including steps to reduce carbon use by individuals, churches and institutions, as well as support for alternative energy loans, employment and investment. Along with 40 presbyteries, we call upon GA to support Overture 08-01, "Overture on Directing the Board of Pensions and the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) Foundation to Divest from Fossil Fuels and Actively Invest in Securities that Focus on Renewable Energy."

Top Five Reasons to Divest from Fossil Fuels Now

1. Because we believe in God, Creator of heaven and earth. From the beginning (Genesis 1:28/Genesis 2:15), God calls humanity as stewards of creation, in order to keep the earth a home for all living things. Jesus calls for repentance; when we have gone in a wrong direction, Christ helps us turn around. He gives us the courage to act now as the stewards God made us to be.

2. Because war and violence will be fueled by climate disasters. Climate change will make food, safe water and habitable land scarcer and costlier, indirectly leading to perpetual violence and war. According to the research of Marshall Burke and Solomon Hsiang, for each half-degree increase in temperature, we can expect a ten to twenty percent increase in armed conflict.¹ With an increase of five degrees, we could see world violence double by the end of this century. The U.S. Department of Defense describes climate change as a "threat multiplier" of poverty, disease, mass displacement, migration and political instability.² Climate-caused resource scarcity has already been deadly for the people in Syria, Somalia and other places. In "National Security and the Accelerating Risks of Climate Change," the CNA Advisory Board (retired high-level U.S. military officers) writes: "The extent to which military forces will be used to protect the homeland in response to projected climate change impacts should not be limited by our past history of military deployments or limited by failures of imagination."³ As peacemakers, we need to act now.

3. Because time is up to mitigate climate change. Climate change is coming faster than first predicted. From words now removed from its website under the current EPA administrator, the EPA stated in 2015: "Global temperatures are projected to increase worldwide by 2° F to 11.5°F by 2100."⁴ What does this mean? In a stunning article worth reading by every Presbyterian, David Wallace-Wells organized the scientific literature on what could happen with this increase in heat. His findings go far beyond rising sea levels: "Absent a significant adjustment to how billions of humans conduct their lives, parts of the Earth will likely become close to uninhabitable, and other parts horrifically inhospitable, as soon as the end of this century."⁵ There are no "do-overs" with climate change. The fossil fuel industry has known of these dangers since the 1970s and has expended millions of dollars to confuse and deny them. We simply do not have more time to talk with the fossil fuel industry; they must change now.

4. Because divestment makes the faithful impact. Divestment, not more corporate engagement, will wake up the oil and gas industry from "business as usual." There are many ways we can fight climate change, but divestment is the most direct action the Presbyterian Church as a whole can take. Divestment aligns all our investments with PCUSA policy against investing in ways that harm people. We are powerful when we join over 800 other faith, academic, and philanthropic institutions, with assets of $6 trillion, to divest from fossil fuels. We have the support of 40 presbyteries that have voted in favor of this.

5. Because we need to be at the right table. The MRTI report calls us to stay at the table of the oil and gas industry. Is that the right table for us? No. We are called to the table of people who are marginalized, to the table of our siblings in frontline communities who already suffer because of fossil fuels. Proponents of shareholder engagement tell us that divestment means we will shame the industry. Yes, we probably will. But until we divest, we betray Christ's call to care for people who are marginalized and God's call to be stewards. Fossil Fuel divestment is now central to living out our faith. All the good actions and writings of our denomination to respond to climate change are for nothing if we continue to fund the industry that is harming creation.

1 Burke, Solomon and Carleton, "Conflict in a Changing Climate," The European Physical Journal, Spring 2016. www.stanford.edu/~mburke/papers/Carleton_Hsiang_Burke2016.pdf

2 U.S. Dept of Defense, "2014 Climate Change Roadmap." www.acq.osd.mil/EIE/Downloads/CCARprint_wForward_e.pdf

3 www.cna.org/cna_files/pdf/MAB_5-8-14.pdf

4 www.epa.gov/climatechange/science/overview (No longer available on-line)

5 David Wallace-Wells, "The Uninhabitable Earth," www.nymag.com/daily/intelligencer/2017/07/climate-change-earth-too-hot-for-humans-annotated.html